Permit procedure changes in Corps' Mobile District

BY DENA BISNETTE
A legislative mandate has simplified the process most Gulf Coast residents have been using to obtain general permits allowing the building of minor structures in coastal waters.

A press conference to explain new permitting procedures has been scheduled for Tuesday at the Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources office on the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Park Campus, according to Joseph Gill, chief of BMR's Wetlands Division.

The conference will be attended by representatives from BMR, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Mobile, Ala., Division and the Mississippi Legislature.

The new permitting procedure took effect Nov. 21 and currently applies only to those parts of the coast in the Corps' Mobile District. That district, Gill said, does not include Port Bienville, Pearllington or parts of Hancock County above Pearllington, which are in the Vicksburg District.

Gill said the three agencies involved in the permitting procedure, specifically BMR, the Corps and the Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control, are presently trying to have similar changes made in Vicksburg District permitting regulations for the Coast area.

Originally, Gill explained, an individual who wanted to build a boat slip, bulkhead or similar structure had to apply to all three agencies for a permit known as a Mississippi Coastal Zone Regional Permit.

"Quite a bit had happened toward modifying the permitting procedures since the early 1970's when separate applications had to be made to each agency and then were processed separately, but the process still took two to three weeks," Gill said.

"These changes will make it a lot easier for someone doing an average residential project. Now we can process a permit in two to three days," he added.

"We're already processing applications according to the new regulations but we've called the

Supervisors request extension on closing of 3 illegal dumps

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Hancock Board of Supervisors voted Thursday to request an extension from the state Bureau of Pollution Control to keep three illegal dumps open until October.

The bureau had informed Supervisors A. A. Keller of Beat 2 and Roger Dale Ladner of Beat 3 that three unauthorized garbage dumps were to be closed by May 31, 1985. The dumps are located on Sixteenth Section land in Standard, Nacaise Crossing and Pearllington.

Ladner made the motion for the extension request so the board would have time to decide if adding extra millage will be necessary to dispose of the garbage.

In a letter the bureau also informed Beat 4 Supervisor Sam Perniciaro Sr., who oversees the sanitary landfill in Catahoula, that garbage was still being burned at the landfill. The letter also said the burning would not be necessary if the garbage was being covered daily as required.

Perniciaro said the lack of a foreman at the landfill contributed to the unauthorized dumping and burning. He requested the board's permission to hire a foreman to oversee the four employees currently working at the landfill.

Clermont water system requests rate increase

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Clermont Harbor Waterworks has applied to the Mississippi Public Service Commission for permission to increase service rates.

According to Monti Watkins, administrative assistant to Clermont Harbor Waterworks owner Glenn Johnson of Vicksburg, the rate increase is needed to finance the upgrading of the entire system, including the repair of leaks, broken lines and other problems; linkage of the system's three wells and installation of air conduction systems on all three; and installation of a new pressurized tank at one of the wells.

Proposed rate increases include changing the present monthly flat rate for residential customers from $8.50 to $15 and implementing a $15 per month charge for commercial customers with a metered rate for heavy users.

The company also proposes changing its first time connection fee from $250 to $800; charging $15 for reconnection and changing deposits from $10 to $15 for both residential and commercial users.

Watkins said the Clermont Harbor Waterworks, which is part of Johnson Utilities, Inc., a Vicksburg-based firm including about 20 water systems, asked for a rate increase in 1981 to pay for the improvements but was unsuccessful.

The work toward the improvement project has been started with a loan, but expenses are now expected to be higher than anticipated, possibly as high as $35,000, Watkins explained.

The improvements, she said, are badly needed, because the Clermont Harbor utility is losing money.

"Our other companies are having to support Clermont Harbor, and that's not good business," she said. "I can sympathize with the residents here, especially the full-time resident, because every weekend the summer people come over and put a demand on the system and then they are all out of water."

Low pressure, sandy water and other problems have existed since before Johnson Utilities bought the system in 1981. Leaks and water that has simply been left on in abandoned houses or pools contribute to the problem, Watkins said.

"Just last week we found a three-inch pipe with its cut-off valve wide open. That's part of the reason we have people reporting low water pressure. We have no way of know-

Armed man robs Waveland store

BY DENA BISNETTE

The armed robbery of a Waveland convenience store may be the sixth in a series of crimes apparently committed by the same man, Waveland authorities say.

According to Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn, the robber threatened a Waveland Majik Market clerk with a handgun and forced him to open the store's safe at about 2:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

The amount of money taken in the incident has not yet been reported.

Dorn said the suspect fits the same general description as the man who robbed Pat's Quik Stop Nov. 14.

After the Quik Stop robbery, the chief said that the same robber had apparently also committed three prior robberies at the Waveland Junior Food Store and one at the Majik Market, which is located on Waveland and Sears Avenues.

The suspect is described as being a male about 5-feet, 7-inches tall with a slim build. In Saturday's robbery at the Majik Market, as in the previous robberies, the man wore gloves and a hood that covered his entire head, Dorn said.

The robbery is still being investigated by the Waveland Police Department.

Hancock promotes Lamb, Lee, 29 others

Hancock Bank has promoted 31 employees, including several from the Bay St. Louis area.

Bank President Leo W. Seal Jr. announced the promotions after a recent meeting of the bank's board of directors.

Those promoted include Anita D. Lamb, who has been named branch officer and manager of Hancock Bank's Diamondhead branch, and Joyce N. Lee, who has been promoted to administrative assistant.

Lamb was originally assigned to the Diamondhead branch in 1980 and became acting manager in 1981. In 1982, she was elected assistant loan officer and manager.

She worked with Hancock Bank at its National Space Technology Laboratories Branch from 1965 to 1969 and rejoined the bank staff in 1980.

Lamb, who is a New Orleans, La., native and a graduate of Sacred Heart Academy there, has been a resident of the Bay St. Louis area for 25 years.

She is a member of the board of directors of Bay Waveland Yacht Club, treasurer for Mississippi Heart Association and a coordinator of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

She is also a past member of Old Lady of the Gulf Parish Council, past president of the Association of Retarded Citizens and Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Hancock County Voters and 1981 Heart Association campaign chairman.

She is married to William Lamb of Bay St. Louis and they have three children: a son and two daughters.

Southern Company raises dividends

The directors of the Southern Company have raised the quarterly dividend on the company's common stock to 4 1/2 cents a share—an increase of three cents per share over the previous quarterly rate. The dividend is payable Dec. 6 to stockholders of record Nov. 5.

The new quarterly dividend is equivalent to an annual rate of $1.92 per share.

Discussing the action, President Edward Addison said "...this marks the third consecutive year that our stockholders will receive an increase in the quarterly dividend rate."

"Our record of dividend increases recognizes the importance of maintaining investor confidence in our business," he continued. "There's simply no question that we depend on investors for a major portion of the capital we must have to build new electric service facilities for a growing Southeast."

Addison noted that it has been necessary for the Southern Company to turn to investors through the sale of new common stock for nearly $2.6 billion since 1970. "With six million kilowatts of generating capacity still under construction, our need for new capital will continue to be substantial. "Thus," he added, "we're firmly committed to maintaining as competitive a position as possible in the nation's financial markets."

He pointed out that 60 of the nation's 100 largest electric utilities have raised their per-share dividends to stockholders by an average of 6.4 percent since the beginning of 1984.

The dividend declared by the Southern Company's board of directors is a 6.7-percent increase over the previous rate, which has been effective since the fourth quarter of 1983.

The Atlanta-based Southern Company is the parent firm of four electric utilities: Alabama Power, Georgia Power, Gulf Power and Mississippi Power. The Southern Company's common stock is the most widely held electric utility stock in the nation and is one of the 20 most widely held corporate stocks in America.

The Southern Company has more than 330,000 stockholders of record, with some 80 percent of the outstanding shares of stock owned by individual investors. Almost half of the company's individual stockholders are age 65 or older and are retired. A majority of stockholders own between 100 and 500 shares in the company.

Southern Company stockholders live in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign countries. Approximately 42 percent of the company's stockholders live in 13 southern states from Virginia to Texas.

Car insurance rates surveyed by MSU

Automobile insurance rates vary considerably in Mississippi, but residents generally use less of their income than the national average to insure their cars, according to a report by Dr. Thomas Luck, holder of the Lutken Chair of Insurance at Mississippi State University.

In a recent survey, questionnaires were sent through the office of state Insurance Commissioner George Dale to 25 of the 196 auto insurance companies doing business in Mississippi. The companies were chosen at random.

"Usable replies were received from 15 of the companies and five more were received with incomplete data. Ten companies, including both stock and mutual insurance, were selected to be included in the survey examples," said Luck.

These companies wrote 74 percent of the total premium volume in private auto insurance in Mississippi, according to A.M. Best Co.'s Executive Data Service.

The MSU survey found a wide variance of rates among the companies depending on the city, the costs of auto repairs and hospital expenses, the costs and frequency of claims, age, accidents, and infractions. The cities targeted for the survey included Meridian, Vicksburg, Jackson, Starkville, Leland, Gulfport, and Yazoo City.

While Mississippi motorists are not required by state law to carry auto insurance, "They have to show that they are financially responsible in the event they are involved in an accident. The easiest way to do this is to carry auto liability insurance of $10,000/$20,000," explained Luck.

Carrying bodily injury insurance is helpful, too, in case the driver is sued for negligence. Property damage insurance required in Mississippi is only $5,000 but $20,000 is more logical due to today's high auto repair costs.

These coverages were included in the survey, as well as uninsured motorist coverage which covers the driver and passengers for injury in an accident with an uninsured negligent driver.

According to the April Insurance Information Institute Bulletin, Mississippi has the second highest number of uninsured motorists claims in the United States.

But, as a whole, Mississippi's rates are below the national average of 1.4 percent of personal income spent to insure autos in 1982. The A.M. Best Co. and the U.S. Department of Commerce figures claim Mississippi's percentage is 1.3 for the same year.

Although rates for premiums may vary hundreds of dollars from company-to-company and city-to-city, Luck warned that consumers shouldn't just shop for the lowest rates.

"A more important factor is who is going to help the motorist when he has a claim to present. He should check the reputation the insurance company and its agents have for paying claims promptly."

"The company offering the lowest premium is not always the company providing the best claims service," concluded Luck.

VA regional director outlines act provisions

"The Veterans' Benefits Improvement Act of 1984, signed by the President on Oct. 24 contains certain amendments to the Emergency Veteran's Job Training Act Program," advises Jackson VA Regional Office Director Samuel J. Maraman.

The act provides that a Certificate of Eligibility will now expire 90 days after it is issued to the veteran, effective the date of enactment of the law.

All Certificates of Eligibility issued on or after Oct. 25, 1984 will show the 90 day expiration date. Previously, a certificate expired after 60 days.

Amounts appropriated for the job training program will remain available until Sept. 30, 1987.

A veteran with a certificate of eligibility has until Sept. 1, 1985 to begin training under the act.

Experienced Veterans Benefits Counselors are available between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to answer any questions on this or other VA benefits.

They may be reached by dialing toll-free 1-800-882-5270.

Planning is essential to look professional

Clothing permits a person to specify who they are and also helps them reach goals.

It is harder for a woman to project a clear clothing message. For the woman functioning in a professional role and fulfilling the duties of a female partner and a mother, there is a problem of style confusion. Women must choose clothing that will carry them through several roles, sometimes in a very short time span.

More than 50 percent of all working age women work in a paid job outside the home. In fact, women comprise more than 40 percent of the country's total work force. A large percentage of these women are not just working, they are planning a career. What they wear is an important part of the plan.

A look that promotes a feeling of polished and professional competency ranks highest among those who do the hiring. A professional look includes clothes, hair, make up, and accessories that work together to create a professional image.

There are certain kinds of clothes that are appropriate for working women. Fashion, taste and good judgment are essential for an adequate and appropriate working wardrobe.

Analyze and describe what is considered to be appropriate career dress for the job, then plan a wardrobe around this description.

It is not uncommon to hear someone say, "I don't have anything to wear." If this is the case, then survey the existing wardrobe and make a plan for future purchases. It is possible to spend a great deal of money on clothes and not really be well dressed. Advance planning will eliminate this.

Plan an adequate wardrobe. This means having enough suitable work clothes to carry out the job and look good in the process.

Decide what is useful and attractive. Get rid of garments that have negative feelings. Clean and straighten closets in the process.

Combine items that are still usable and comfortable with carefully planned purchases to create a new career wardrobe. It is usually not possible to spend a large amount of money on clothes all at once, so plan to update by adding gradually. Always buy good quality, classic styles, and stick to a color coordinated plan.

Hair, makeup and accessories are important finishing touches that should not be neglected. A good rule of thumb to follow is that understatement is always better than overdoing.

Keep hair simple, clean and well cut. Hair style should flatter an individual's facial structure. It should be professional looking. Avoid childish hair styles; they undermine authority. Above all, select a hair style that is easy to keep and does not require much extra time.

Research among top executives has shown that a medium amount of natural look to makeup is most desirable in professional women. The "painted lady" or too much makeup creates a feeling of harshness and gaudiness. No makeup at all creates a feeling of tiredness, laziness, and an "I-don't-care" attitude.

Strike a balance with makeup. Use it to maximize good features and minimize bad features without overdoing it.

Accessories can make or break an outfit. Use accessories to set the tone of a look by pulling it together and setting it off with just a touch of flare.

A plan for an adequate and appropriate wardrobe is never completely finished. It changes not only as the person changes but also as ideas and goals about clothing change.

Waveland Players to encore '81 show

Celebrating their return to the newly-renovated Civic Center, the Waveland Players will repeat their 1981 hit, "Deadwood Dick, or, The Game of Gold."

Performances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7-8 and at 3 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 9, and again the following Friday and Saturday, Dec. 14-15 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets at $4 will be available at the door.

The melodrama of the Gay 90s features swooning damsels, fiendish villains, befuddled saloon girls, gun-toting heroes, tough miners and temperance crusaders.

Most of the actors who performed in 1981 will be on stage again in the new production.

Walter Vaughn, who drew loud hisses and boos from the audience in 1981, appears again as Blackman Redburn, the wicked villain who stops at nothing to satisfy his greed.

Barbara Jo Fitch also returns to do Calamity Jane, the proprietor of the Man Trap Saloon with a taste for gold.

Cast as the good guys are Thomas Worrell as Ned Harris, alias Deadwood Dick, and Frank Richter as his partner Wild Bill Hickock.

The innocent young maidens, Lillie and Rose Blossom, are played by Susan Stevens and Lorelei Ling. The Latin siren, La Paloma, is played by Joyce Marie Ohman, a newcomer to the Players.

Jeanne-Marie Bell returns to the role of the Chinese servant Pong Ping.

Others in the cast include Ed Craig as Judge Nix; Ed Scanlan as the bartender Chet Pussy; Bunk Gardner as the sheriff; Dottie Overal as Mollie, the sheriff's good wife; and Edith Back as Teetotal Tessie whose hatchet brigade menaces the saloon.

Producer is Tomyann Fitch and Ted Stechmann directs. Ingrid Ling is music director. Piccola Dietrich serves as director over the troupe of dancing saloon girls. Ed Scanlan designed the set.

Garnishes add something extra to holiday meals

By Ann O. Rushing
Extension Marketing Specialist

Don't think of garnishes as extras. Whether using a garnish as simple as hard-cooked egg slices on top of a casserole or as elaborate as piped whipped cream over a chocolate mousse, these attractive details are essential when it comes to adding sparkle to meals.

That's especially important during the holiday season. People looking for some ideas for garnishes should try the following:

- Frosted cranberries. Serve the holiday turkey surrounded with mounds of frosted cranberries. Just dip fresh cranberries into beaten egg white, and roll them in granulated sugar.

- Place the berries on a wire rack (mesh type), and let dry in a cool place. Don't refrigerate them because the moisture will make the sugar melt.

- Notched citrus cups. Lemons, limes, oranges and grapefruit make a colorful garnish for seafood and vegetables or for use as a decorative container for a multitude of foods.

- To make notched cups, first cut a thin slice from each end of the fruit so the halves will sit level. Insert the blade of a small knife at a downward angle into the middle of the fruit; remove the blade. Insert knife again at an upward angle to make a zigzag pattern.

- Continue cutting in this fashion completely around the fruit. Separate the halves by twisting slightly and carefully pulling them apart. Accent the notches, if desired, by dipping the tips into paprika, cinnamon or chopped parsley.

- If the fruit will be used as a container for salads, vegetables, or desserts, simply scoop out the pulp (reserve for another use) and fill the shell.

- Fluted mushrooms. Use raw, fluted mushrooms as a garnish for salads, casseroles or for adding interest to the dinner plate. Lightly sautéed mushrooms are especially attractive for garnishing steaks or roast beef.

- Begin with fresh, medium to large, firm mushrooms. Rub the entire mushroom with lemon juice to prevent browning. Make several slits at even intervals around the mushroom cap, cutting from the center of the cap to the edge and using a carving motion with the knife.

- Make another set of slits parallel to the first slits, allowing about one sixteenth inch between. Remove the thin strip of mushroom between the slits and discard.

- Lemon roses. Use lemon roses to brighten up a serving bowl filled with broccoli or other vegetables or to spruce up a luncheon or dinner plate.

- Using a sharp knife, peel a one-half inch wide strip of rind in a continuous spiral from top to bottom of the lemon.

- Then with flesh side inward, coil the strip tightly at first to form the center of the rose; gradually let it loosen to form the outer petals. (Tomato roses can be made using the same procedure).

- Hard-cooked eggs. This colorful, nutritious garnish can be used in several ways. Overlap thin slices in a circle to top a casserole, vegetable or salad; then fill the center of the circle with sprigs of parsley. Or cut the egg into quarters and arrange the wedges in pinwheel fashion.

- Sieved egg yolk makes an appealing topping for asparagus, broccoli, or spinach because of the distinct color contrast. Press only the yolk through a sieve and lightly sprinkle it over the vegetable. Finely chopped egg is another option for vegetables and salads.

- Piped garnishes. Using a decorator bag, pipe stiffly beaten whipping cream on top or around the base of desserts. Add a finishing touch by sprinkling the mounds of cream with finely chopped nuts or chocolate shavings.

- Pipe mayonnaise or softened cream cheese on aspics or other congealed salads. Stuff celery quickly by piping cream cheese or other fillings through a large decorator tip.

- Stuffed eggs look even better when the filling is piped in. Mashed potatoes serve as both garnish and side dish when piped around meats, such as roast beef or lamb.

- Vegetable and fruit garnishes. Red or green pepper rings, celery leaves, cherry tomatoes, parsley sprigs, fresh herbs and onion rings are all good choices for garnishing a casserole.

- Use one or group several. For a particularly eye-catching combination, place several celery leaves off-center on a casserole and top with a cherry tomato or two. Or interlock rings of red and green pepper to add a dash of color.

- Use baked fruit, such as peach, apricot or pear halves, to garnish a platter of meat. For added color and flavor, fill the center of the fruit halves with spiced cream cheese, nuts or currant jelly.

- For a quick garnish, arrange clusters of red and green grapes and nuts in the shell around the meat.

Irish genealogy subject of Ocean Springs seminar

Donna Reid Hotaling, lecturer and authority on both Irish and Ulster Scot genealogy, will give an all-day seminar under the sponsorship of the Ocean Springs Genealogical Society Saturday, Jan. 28, at the Biloxi Library and Cultural Center, 215 Lameuse Street.

A registration fee of $15 which includes attendance at the seminar and lunch at a nearby restaurant, should be sent before Jan. 15 to the Ocean Springs Genealogical Society, P.O. Box 300, Ocean Springs, Miss. 39564.

Registration will be limited to the first 100 applications received. On the day of the seminar, sign-in will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the Cultural Center located at the rear of the library facing Delaney Street.

Donna Hotaling, a professional genealogist, has actively promoted interest in Irish research and organized conferences on genealogical research in 32 countries.

Since 1976 she has led genealogical tours to Ireland and was honored in 1979 by British Airways for promoting "cross border relations in the field of genealogical and historical research and group travel to Northern Ireland."

She is the North American representative for the Ulster Historical Foundation; has served as coordinator for Debra's Ancestry Research of Winchester, England; and was formerly councilor of National Genealogical Society, as well as agent for the American Society of Genealogists, and executive secretary of the Board of Certification of Genealogists.

Christmas is fast approaching and The Salvation Army will be offering help to needy families in the area.

Next Saturday, Salvation Army representatives will be at Gulf National Bank's Civic Room, US-90 in Bay St. Louis, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., taking applications from needy families for toys and food.

The Salvation Army, like many other organizations, tries to help needy families during the Christmas season to make it a joyous one especially for children.

Persons seeking further information can contact The Salvation Army at its Gulfport headquarters or call 1-863-2355.

This is just a reminder to all boys and girls that Santa Clause is scheduled to arrive in Bay St. Louis this afternoon at the Hancock County Courthouse.

Santa has already made arrangements with the fire departments to arrive on a fire engine as his sled has a hard time without snow on the ground like at the North Pole.

The time is 4 p.m. and the event is sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Today is a very important day for many residents of the Kiln area as a drive gets underway for pre-registration of students for Annunciation School.

As many of you know, Annunciation School's student population has to increase in order for the facility to continue to operate.

The recent loss of the school's annual $100,000 subsidy has caused this serious need for an increase in enrollment.

Pre-registrations will be held after today's masses in the area churches and several other locations.

Persons interested in further information on pre-registration can call 255-1869.

Kiln would not be the same without a school in its community, so we are hoping enough parents will respond to the school's need.

We visited the Hancock County Farmers Market yesterday morning and local farmers continue to offer an array of fresh produce.

Winter greens appear to be one of the most popular items, yet many still have tomatoes, peppers, sweet potatoes, squash, etc.

The Farmers Market is located at the Hancock County Fairgrounds and is open Wednesday and Saturday mornings from 7 a.m. to noon, or until the farmers sell out.

Consumer Product SAFETY ALERT

FROM THE U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT
SAFETY COMMISSION, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20207
October 1984

Under laws administered by CPSC, an estimated 325 million potentially hazardous products have been called back from the marketplace and consumers since 1973 (when CPSC was created). Most of these were voluntarily recalled by manufacturers who established programs to repair or replace the products, or to refund the purchase price.

CPSC Warns of Carbon Monoxide Hazard With Oil/Wood Combination Furnaces

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission recently issued a warning to consumers of a carbon monoxide hazard with certain oil/wood combination furnaces. These units were manufactured by Itasca Manufacturing, Inc. of Menasha, MN.

The units involved were sold under the names Itasca Duo Model W0330 and Home Duo Model W0320. CPSC believes the units have demonstrated a pattern of weld failure that could allow carbon monoxide to escape and be drawn into the home. Carbon monoxide can cause headaches, nausea, and lead to death.

Over 100 complaints associated with cracks in the welds of the furnace were reported to the firm. At least one complaint involved various levels of carbon monoxide being emitted into the home. No injuries are known to have occurred.

Approximately 12,000 units have been produced and sold since 1972. The model number W0330 or W0320 can be found on a metal plate attached to the unit.

CPSC urges owners of these furnaces to contact a qualified professional heating equipment installer and arrange for the furnace to be inspected for cracks, particularly at the top of the heat exchanger between the creosote collectors and around the firebox doors. If cracks are found, consumers should have a certified welder repair them. Any welding repairs should be reinspected yearly.

Consumers wishing to verify model numbers may call the CPSC toll-free Hotline at 800-638-CPSC. A teletype-writer number for the hearing impaired is 800-638-8270. (Maryland residents only, 800-492-8104).

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

This week, the Governor's Office made history. For the first time in three or four decades, the Governor has presented an executive budget to the Mississippi Legislature for consideration.

Our budget was presented on November 15, following the dictates of the reorganization act approved last year by the Legislature. That act, upon recommendation of the Governor, gave the Governor budget-making authority and a budget office.

Our 1985-86 budget falls within the revenue estimates of $1.5 billion, as agreed upon by both my Office and the legislative budget office. That means that our budget can be accomplished without new taxes or tax increases.

In addition, this budget is submitted one month ahead of any other budget to date. The Legislature will detail its budget on December 15.

The Governor's budget is also a balanced budget. We did not recommend spending any money that the state does not have. In fact, we end with a minimum surplus of $4 million.

Before I outline our recommendations, let me assure you that your tax dollars were closely scrutinized before we prepared this budget. We began by reducing each agency to 90 percent of its current funding level. Then we added any pay raises or essential service increases that were necessary.

The highlights of our budget, which will be explained to you in greater detail in the next few months, include:

—Full funding for the Education Reform Act, as approved by the Legislature in 1982. Education continues to be one of the two priorities of my administration. Obviously, education is the cornerstone of any progress we will make in this state economically. Without an education, our citizens cannot get and keep good jobs and become productive citizens.

—Teacher pay raises of 5 percent. Our public school teachers need to realize a pay increase. We acknowledge that they are still underpaid, and we hope that tax collectors in the future will enable us to make even higher recommended raises.

—State employees pay raises of 5 percent. Our state employees have gone without raises for several years, and we believe this increase will help them keep up with the rate of inflation.

—Pay raises of 5 percent for university and junior college personnel. We are losing our best higher education faculty because of the competition of the job market. Last year's special legislative session appropriated funds for the higher education faculty, but they are still somewhat behind.

—A $500,000 increase for economic development, our other top priority. These funds will be used for development of ports along the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, Mississippi River and Gulf Coast. We believe this development will bring new jobs into Mississippi and take advantage of our state's being surrounded on three sides by water.

—Adding 10 new narcotics agents. The State Bureau of Narcotics is doing an excellent job with limited staffing. While 10 new agents is still a low figure, we believe the new agents will provide some assistance in fighting the drug problems in Mississippi.

—Funding for new prison facilities and restitution and community work centers. These programs will help us, on a limited basis, to meet the overcrowding problem at the State Penitentiary at Parchman.

—Funding for the categorically medically needy program under Medicaid and for group homes under the Department of Mental Health. Our budget meets the health and human services need of Mississippians who cannot help themselves. In addition, we have included funds for the new federal child support law and a computer to better streamline the welfare operation.

—Match money to allow the state Highway Department to receive federal funds to continue our highway program.

There are many other things we would like to do for the people of Mississippi, but we must take a close look at every penny of state money that we use. I hope the Legislature will seriously consider this budget.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A TEST OF STATESMANSHIP

A Highway Study Committee of the Mississippi House of Representatives has recommended sweeping changes in the State Aid road construction program.

Essentially, the State Aid System is designed to improve farm-to-market roads across Mississippi.

A recent study by the Mississippi Economic Council concluded that the program has been effective.

There is a flaw in the program, however. The flaw relates to the distribution of funds among the counties. Under the state Aid program, state funds are distributed to counties for construction of the roads.

The distribution of funds is still being made on the basis of a 1949 formula. This means that the 35-year-old distribution formula has not kept pace with the changing conditions within the 82 counties.

Generally, the problem is that counties with small populations and few roads are receiving relatively more funds than are the growing counties with highway needs.

For example, Holmes, a rural county, receives more money under the present formula than do Hinds, Harrison, or Jackson counties, all with growing populations and significantly greater transportation needs.

The legislative committee has recommended that the formula be revised during the 1985 legislative session.

Revision will mean some counties will receive less money and others will receive more. Revision as recommended by the committee will also result in a greater degree of fairness and equity than exists in the program today.

The question is whether legislators will cast their votes on this issue as statesmen or as politicians. It has been said a statesman looks to the next generation while a politician looks to the next election.

The vote on the proposed revision of the State Aid System will be a test of statesmanship for the members of the Mississippi Legislature.

U.S. Small Business Administration

Q: How important is a good salesperson in a small retail shop?

A: Good personal selling in retail stores is getting harder and harder to find today. This is particularly true in the large multi-unit retail establishments that have increasingly stressed self service at the expense of good personal selling.

The de-emphasis of personal selling by large scale retailers leaves a gap in customer service that the small retailer is in a good position to fill.

By emphasizing good personal selling, the small retailer can gain a competitive edge not easily matched by the bigger stores.

It is much easier for your larger competitors to dominate in such areas as merchandise assortments, pricing, and advertising, than to provide a well developed personal selling effort. Good personal selling, however, does not automatically occur simply because the retail store is small.

Nor does high quality personal selling result merely by paying sales people more money.

Rather, good personal selling results from a carefully developed program which accounts for the major elements necessary in all successful personal selling programs:

1. Salespeople must be skilled at learning the needs of the customer.
2. They must have a thorough knowledge of the merchandise and service offered by the retailer.
3. They must have the ability to convince the customers that the merchandise and service offered by their store can satisfy the customer's needs better than that of their competitors.

Mississippians At Work For Mississippi

Seventy-five Mississippi business men and women representing every geographic section of the state and almost every segment of the economic community came together this week to consider issues vital to Mississippi and Mississippians.

In the course of their deliberations, they examined problems related to such diverse issues as flood control, economic development, education, taxation, and even the development of leadership for the state.

Meetings like this have been going on now for 37 years in Mississippi—this was the semiannual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Economic Council, the state's largest association of business, industrial, and professional leaders. Membership of the Board of Directors of the Council reads like a Who's Who for Mississippi, leaders coming from every business and every profession from every county in the state.

These men and women, all committed to the improvement of Mississippi, offer their time, talent, energies, and resources to the solution of problems affecting the state and to the development of the state. It is not just the directors who contribute to the Council and its objectives; more than 3,500 business firms and individuals are involved in the organization's work. These members can be identified with the traditional black and silver membership plaque which hangs in offices, stores, and shops in every county in the state.

A suggestion—the next time you spot one of the membership plaques, take the time to thank the firm owner or manager for the contribution he is making to Mississippi and Mississippians through his membership and his participation in the work of the Mississippi Economic Council.

Textron gets $27.3 million contract to build air minesweeper

Bell Aerospace Textron, Division of Textron, Inc., has been awarded a $27.3 million contract for design and construction of the first Minesweeper Hunter (MSH) for the U.S. Navy.

The contract also provides the Navy with two additional options to acquire eight more MSHs at a cost of $126.6 million.

The additional contracts would be awarded in groups of four in 1985 and 1986.

The MSH will be a new class of coastal minesweeper designed to insure that access to U.S. ports and coastal waterways is maintained in the event of a mine attack.

The MSH will use a surface effect ship (SES) design in which the vessel will ride on a cushion of air. This design represents a new concept for minesweepers, which in the past have used conventional displacement hulls.

Final design of the MSH will be conducted at the New Orleans Operations of Bell Aerospace and the lead ship will be constructed at its Bell Halter Inc. shipyard in eastern New Orleans.

The MSH lead ship is scheduled for delivery in 1987.

Award of the MSH contract announced Monday by John J. Kelly, senior vice president and general manager of Bell Aerospace Textron, Division of Textron Inc., New Orleans Operations, and president of Bell Halter Inc.

This competitive contract was won through a process that involved 17 companies and three years of intensive international competition, with Bell having offered the superior technical and most cost effective design.

The MSH program is the second major Navy project won by Bell New Orleans in recent years.

The company is currently building high-speed amphibious air cushion landing craft, known as LCACs (Landing Craft, Air Cushion), for U.S. Navy/Marine Corps missions.

The first LCAC rolled off the Bell Halter assembly line in May of this year, and is successfully completing operational trials in Panama City, Fla., with anticipated U.S. Navy acceptance in Dec. 1984.

The Bell MSH design uses an air cushion to reduce the contact of the hull with the water surface, thus making the ship less susceptible to underwater shock from mine explosions.

The air cushion also reduces the underwater acoustic, magnetic, and pressure signatures of the ship, making it less likely that today's sophisticated mines will be triggered before they can be detected and neutralized by systems carried aboard the MSH.

This concept offers a dramatic improvement, reducing the risk and cost of minesweeping.

To prove the effectiveness of the SES design in resisting underwater shock, Bell conducted a series of underwater explosion tests on a Bell-designed 110-foot commercial SES.

During the tests, explosive charges equivalent to 1,800 pounds of TNT were detonated at various distances from the ship.

After the most severe test on cushion, the SES immediately departed the area with all systems operating.

The tests, conducted in February and March 1984 in the Gulf of Mexico near Bell's facility in Panama City, Fla., provided the first data proving the superior shock resistance of the SES design.

A leader in the advanced Marine vehicle field, Bell Aerospace has pioneered air cushion vehicle (ACV) and SES technology during the last 20 years.

John Kelly has been instrumental in the development of air supported ships for almost two decades.

He has led the successful development and introduction of the LCAC (Landing Craft, Air Cushion) which is the basis for the modernization of the U.S. Navy amphibious landing forces, and most recently, the technological breakthrough leading to the Navy's selection of an air-supported MSH.

Bell designs are built at the Bell Halter shipyard, a company owned by Bell Aerospace Textron and Halter Marine, Inc.

Smokeout includes over 18 million

More than 18 million of America's smokers attempted to give up cigarettes for 24 hours on Nov. 15, the day of the "Great American Smokeout," according to the American Cancer Society.

This information was obtained during the early hours of the Smokeout through the Society's annual nationwide telephone survey.

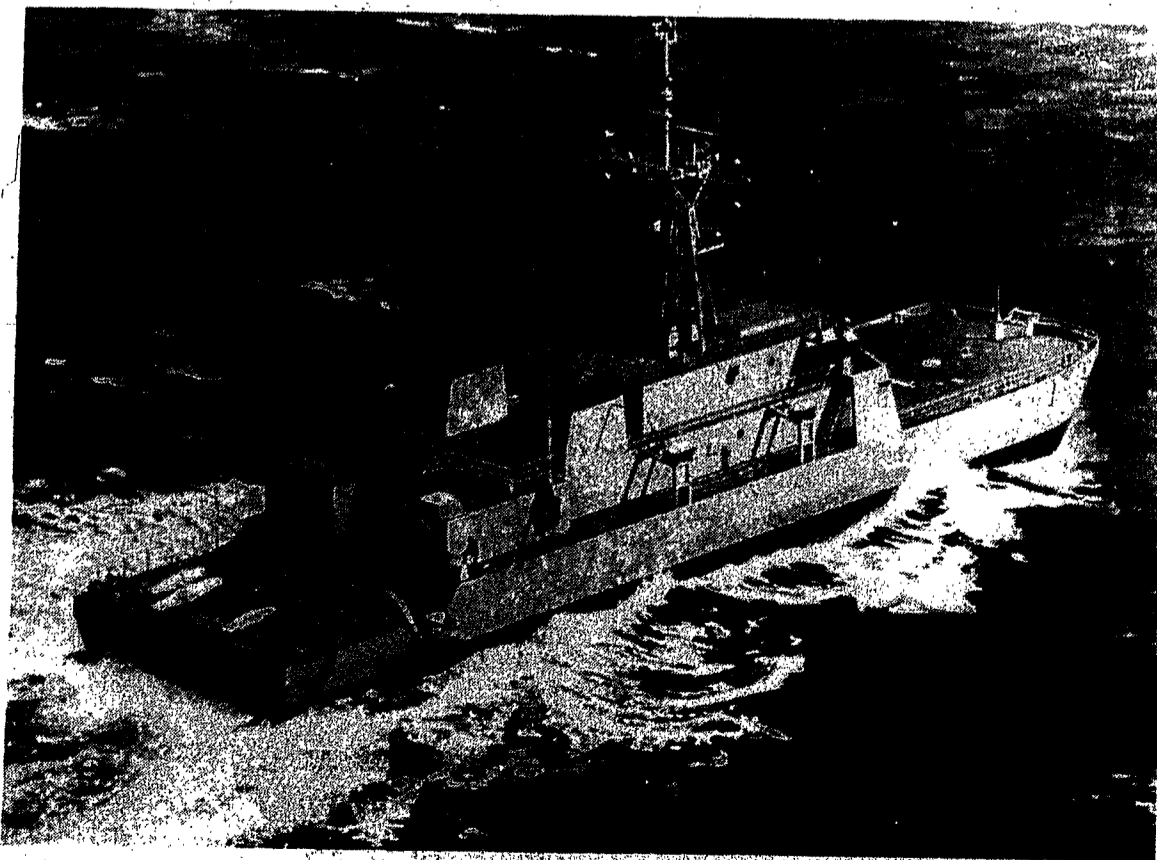

Gallup poll is being conducted over an 11-day period following the Smokeout to determine how many people made it successfully through the day without smoking. In previous Smokeouts a fairly constant figure of just under 5 million have been successful.

Those who are considering extending their quit for a longer period or perhaps for good may wish to join an American Cancer Society Quit Smoking program.

Businesses favor trimming pensions

If next year's Congress is serious about cutting federal spending, government employees' pensions would be a good place to start. At least that's what the overwhelming majority of small-business owners recommend according to a recent survey by the National Federation of Independent Business.

Virtually all (98 percent) of the small-business owners responding to the NFIB survey favored trimming pension costs by raising the minimum retirement age to 62 for all federal employees—regardless of how long they have worked for the government.

Only 3 percent favored retaining the current system, which allows civil servants with 30 years of service to retire at age 55 and those with 20-year careers to retire at 60.

Federal benefit programs are widely recognized as being more generous than those offered by industry. However, proponents cite studies showing government salaries lagging behind. They argue that the government must offer better benefits if it hopes to attract and hold competent employees.

The small-business community does not agree. Respondents to the NFIB survey indicated that the sizeable edge in federal retirement provisions is both unfair and overly expensive. Apparently many were impressed by the Grace Commission finding that raising the minimum age would save some $8.2 billion over a three-year period.

William J. Dennis, research director for the NFIB Foundation, points to several other factors contributing to the near-unanimous recommendation to cut federal pensions.

"The salary comparison studies use megacorporations' pay scales as the 'private industry' norm, yet big-business salaries far outstrip those offered by small firms," Dennis said.

"Indeed," Dennis added, "considering the hours they work, a sizeable minority of small-business owners don't even make minimum wage. So they're not disposed to sympathize with claims that government workers are underpaid to begin with."

Dennis noted that the overwhelming mandate to pare benefits suggests that even those small-business owners who think federal salaries may be "non-competitive" feel the government "has gone way overboard" in using benefits to counter-balance pay differentials.

"Bear in mind that three of every four small-business owners can't afford to offer their workers a pension plan, and more than half can't even offer health insurance," Dennis said.

The survey was conducted among the more than 500,000 small-business owners who belong to the National Federation of Independent Business. The NFIB polls its members regularly to establish policy positions to be pursued in Washington, D.C., and state capitals throughout the country.

Senior Citizens Happenings

By Eve McDonald
INTERGENERATIONAL OUTING
Saturday we will be going to the Saenger Theater in Biloxi with grandparents and children to see The Nutcracker Suite ballet matinee performance.

Tickets for adults are $5 and children are $3. We have a few openings left. Call Rosine at 467-9292 for a reservation.

FISH FRY
Silver Creek Catfish House outdid themselves again. I bet K.C. Mitchell and staff and our board of supervisors and sheriff served 150 dinners.

We were truly thankful for such a lovely meal and for the kindness of you people for thinking of the seniors and providing this outing for them.

The weather was wonderful and the ride out to the Catfish House was an additional plus for this trip. It is a nice change from turkey, too.

K.C. and his staff have offered this treat for three years now and he says he couldn't do it without the help of the supervisors and other officials who do the serving.

Judge Bruce Necaise was in there helping again.

Hope all of you will tell your friends about this nice restaurant.

CHRISTMAS PARTY
Don't forget Dec. 20. We will again be going to the Bay St. Louis American Legion Hall. They are always good enough to loan us this nice facility for our Christmas party.

Tickets are $4 per person.
We don't have funds to do a dinner and entertainment in our budget—we are like Smith Barney—we have to earn it.

We always have nice prizes and favors plus Bo and Dee to play for us. It is really going to be nice party and we will have as guests some of the people who have helped us each year.

Jitney Jungle gives us their day-old bread and deli supplies.

Danny's Fried Chicken and the Eatery provide monthly prizes.

Edmond Fahey and Riemann Funeral Homes provide many gifts and prizes.

Security and Peoples Federal Homesteads provide gifts and refreshments.

Bay and Waveland American Legions provide money prizes and this facility.

Honey Cream Donut Shop provides some day-old doughnuts.

I don't know what we would do without all of the support we get from our local merchants and friends. How can we thank all of you?

COMING TRIPS

We will be making a few trips to see the decorations at the Biloxi Mall this month. We encourage you to shop at home, but I know some of you want to get over there to see all the lovely windows and displays.

The trips are set for Dec. 6 and 12. Call Rosine if you would like to join us on one of these trips. We will give first priority to those who have no other way to go. Call 467-9292.

Air Force recruiting physicians

The United States Air Force is seeking physicians in all specialties. Although all types are needed, the Air Force is looking specifically for physicians in family practice, aerospace medicine, pediatrics, internal medicine, cardiology, general surgery, otorhinolaryngology, OB-GYN and psychiatry," said Captain Dan T. Ellis.

Board qualified physicians entering the Air Force receive direct commissioning in the grades of captain to lieutenant colonel, depending upon their previous experience and education.

Physicians are given an initial base of choice, provided a vacancy exists, and are provided assignment details prior to commissioning. After commissioning they are assigned to medical facilities ranging in size from out-patient clinics, similar to professional municipal clinics, to large teaching centers like the 1,000-bed Wilford Hall USAF Center in San Antonio, Tex.

"An excellent program of compensation and entitlements is offered Air Force physicians including 30 days of vacation with pay each year, medical and dental care and an excellent retirement plan," according to Ellis.

For more information contact the local Air Force recruiter.

HEARTWORMS

Mosquitoes bite your dog and transmit the larva of an internal parasite, the heartworm. These larvae develop into adult heartworms four to five inches long which can occlude blood flow out of the heart going to the lungs in about six months.

Eventually the infestation will cause failure to the heart and congestion of the lungs. Dead worms can travel to the lungs and cause parts of the lung to die. Adult heartworms produce young, and the infested dog then acts as a reservoir for other animals in the neighborhood.

There is a preventative medication that can be given by mouth. Your veterinarian must first check your dog to be sure he is free of heartworms before giving any preventative medication. Giving your dog this medication if he has live heartworm infestation can kill him.

There is a treatment for your dog if he already has heartworms; it involves medication to kill the heartworms and time consuming cage rest for days to weeks followed by limited exercise. It is not without side effects that can be severe; thus prevention is the best medicine.

Gastrointestinal Parasites Hookworm, roundworm, and whipworm larvae remain in the soil (from stools of infected pets) for months and reinfect dogs and cats. Roundworms can cause vomiting and diarrhea and animals appear "pot-bellied"; hookworms live on blood sucked through the intestinal wall and can cause anemia along with black, tarry diarrhea; whipworms can cause a mucousy diarrhea with patches of bright red blood in the stool along with pain in the rear quarters of the dog.

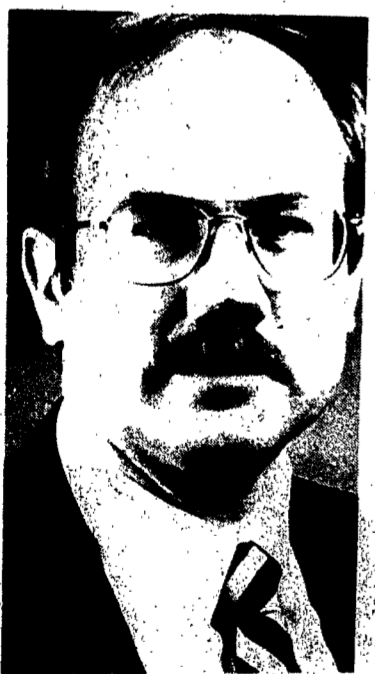

Have your veterinarian diagnose worm infestations and administer the correct worm medication safely. He can also treat the associated diarrhea to keep your pet from becoming dehydrated. You should routinely clean up any stool in the yard several times a week.

EXERCISE

Strenuous exercise should be limited to the cooler hours of the early morning or the evening during the summer. Do not initiate a new exercise program for your pet—such as jogging with you—without having him checked first by his veterinarian. An animal used to a sedentary life style can die if over-exercised, especially in the heat of the summer.

Remember only you can make this summer safe and healthy for your pet. It is your responsibility. Please be courteous to your neighbors.

Martin Marietta has 3rd quarter, 9-month gains

Martin Marietta Corporation reported increases in earnings in October from continuing operations for the third quarter and first nine months and said that a previously announced $365-million one-time writeoff to cover costs of withdrawing from the aluminum business resulted in a third quarter net loss of $324 million, or $9.42 per share, compared with net earnings of $33.1 million, or 96 cents per share (93 cents fully diluted), a year earlier.

Third quarter earnings from continuing operations were $45,534,000 or $1.22 per share ($1.17 fully diluted), compared with $39,369,000 or $1.16 ($1.11 fully diluted), which included $5.8 million, or 17 cents per share, of non-recurring gains in the third quarter of 1983.

Per share earnings were calculated on a higher average base of 35,002,000 shares outstanding, compared with 31,531,824 in last year's third quarter. Third quarter net sales from continuing operations increased to $1,005,636,000 compared with $810,897,000 in the third quarter of 1983.

For the nine months, earnings from continuing operations were $142,723,000 or $3.87 per share ($3.69 fully diluted), compared with earnings of $129,739,000, or $4.10 per share ($3.85 fully diluted), which included $43,100,000 or $1.45 per share, of nonrecurring gains from the sale of certain operations and investments for the first nine months of 1983.

Including the one-time writeoff of aluminum operations, the nine months showed a net loss of $6.72 per share, compared with net earnings of $3.23 per share ($3.08 fully diluted) for the same period last year. Per share earnings for the nine months were computed on the basis of 34,734,740 average outstanding shares, compared with 29,674,953 for the comparable period of 1983.

For the year to date, new sales from continuing operations increased to $2,802,153,000 compared with $2,314,093,000 in the 1983 nine months.

"Ongoing gains in all elements of our continuing operations for the third quarter are clearly evident in earnings from operations, which increased 21 percent over the same period last year," said Thomas G.
Pownall, chairman and chief executive of Martin Marietta.

"They reflect continued strong growth in our mainstream areas of technology, particularly aerospace, as well as the improved economic climate for our basic materials business. We expect that these strong underlying trends will continue in the fourth quarter, and they contribute to our encouraging outlook for 1985," Pownall said.

News Brief

SHOWS POSTPONED

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre production of Key Exchange has been postponed from originally scheduled performance dates Dec. 6 through 8.

Producer Laurie Byrd said an urgent need to replace gas lines at the theatre's Boardman Street Playhouse caused delay of the presentation until sometime in January.

press conference to put this before the general public," Gill said.

A public notice issued by the Corps lists activities governed by the Mississippi Coastal Zone Regional Permit as including the construction of indented boatslips; maintenance dredging of existing boatslips; and maintenance dredging of existing canals, docking or berthing areas or existing navigation channels; all of which must involve less than 500 cubic yards of dredging.

Also included is the construction or maintenance of piers, wharfs, related stairways or walkways, boat shelters, gazebos, and hoists. The construction and maintenance of boat ramps and marinas are included if less than 250 cubic yards of dredging is involved.

Mooring pilings, permanent mooring anchors, and fish havens and similar mariculture or aquaculture activities are also included.

Permits are granted subject to 14 conditions set by the Corps, BMR and BPC. They can not be issued for any activities that may be hazardous to navigation or to the environment, and expire at the end of five years if the permitted project is not completed.

Legumes: Delicious, Nutritious and Under-rated

Dried beans and peas have been a staple in the human diet for thousands of years. In recent decades, however, they have taken a backseat because improving economic conditions have allowed for greater consumption of meat.

The traditional food grouping systems in Western societies have not helped much either.

By calling dried beans and peas 'meat substitutes,' we seem to be saying the legumes should be used only when meat is not available.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Legumes have nutritional and health benefits that make them worthy additions to any diet.

Dried beans and peas are low in fat and have no cholesterol. In addition, they are high in water-soluble fiber. Dried beans and peas may be helpful in lowering blood cholesterol levels and slowing down the rate of carbohydrate absorption, important to diabetics.

Nutritionally, legumes provide protein, B vitamins and trace minerals and are especially good sources of the B vitamins thiamine and folic acid.

Dried beans and peas can be prepared in hundreds of tasty ways.
They combine well with many other foods and are economical, especially when served with grain foods, a combination that increases the protein quality of the beans to that of animal protein.

Surveys have shown that many people find dried beans and peas appealing and wholesome but avoid them because of problems with flatulence (gas).

Legumes contain two carbohydrates—stachyose and raffinose—which are indigestible by the enzymes in the small intestine but which can be digested by intestine bacteria in the colon, or large intestine.

The by-product of this digestion is gas.

The legume industry is quite aware of this and has been working for some time to develop strains of dried beans and peas with diminished gas-forming potential.

For the moment, it helps to know that individuals vary in their reaction to beans, that beans vary in their gas-forming abilities, some more than others (shop around), and that the method of preparation also can have an effect.

Contrary to what you may have heard, the water beans and peas are presoaked in should be thrown out and not used for cooking.

While this does lower the nutritional value of the legume, it also diminishes the amount of stachyose and raffinose, and there's still plenty of nutritional value left.

For beans and peas which are not pre-soaked, try changing the cooking water after the legumes have cooked 10 minutes or so.

Dried beans and peas should be cooked until tender to render the skins and other sources of fiber more digestible.

If salt is added, add only at the end of the cooking time; otherwise the beans toughen.

Here are some mouth-watering, stomach-filling recipes for dried beans and peas.

SOYBEAN CHILI

½ pound ground beef
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2-3 teaspoons chili powder ¾ cups canned tomatoes, chopped
1 6-ounce tomato paste
1 teaspoon sugar
2 cups cooked dry soybeans, drained

Brown the meat with the salt in a large saucepan. Add the onion, chili powder, tomatoes, tomato paste and sugar. Cook, uncovered, over low heat for one hour, stirring occasionally. Add soybeans and cook for 15 minutes.

Chili may be made by omitting meat and adding two-third cup dry textured vegetable protein hydrated with two-thirds cup boiling water.
Makes six servings.

LENTIL LOAF

½ pound Cheddar cheese
2 cups cooked, drained lentils.
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 teaspoon thyme
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup soft bread crumbs, packed
1 egg, slightly beaten 1 tablespoon softened butter or margarine

Preheat oven to 350° F. Grind or mash together the cheese, lentils and onion. Add thyme, salt and pepper. Next, add bread crumbs, egg and butter and mix thoroughly.
Shape into a loaf and bake in a greased loaf pan for 45 minutes.

If desired, tomato sauce can be poured over loaf before baking.
Makes four servings.

"The county reappraisal has helped us because there was apparently no map of the system when we bought it. We simply didn't know where some of the lines were, and for the past three weeks we've had about six men hunting through the marshes for them," she explained.

Most of the problems have apparently been found by now, she added. However, the company has indications that some 35 customers may be hooked into the system il-still hooked into the system are abandoned.

The company lists about 270 customers on its billing roles, she said.

The Public Service Commission will call its December docket Tues-hearing will be held on the Clermont Harbor matter as soon as possible.

"We think they may set it for early December or postpone it until January because of the holidays, but we'd prefer to get this work done as soon as we can," she said.

Mary Callier, president of the Clermont Harbor Civic Association, said the 1981 rate increase request was protested by her group and it is possible that this one will also be opposed.

"Our organization has taken a lot of complaints about the water and we feel they are justified," she said.

"We've had complaints about sand in the water, rusty water, low pressure and the company cutting off water without giving any notice."

upgraded. If we could get the service upgraded, we wouldn't mind paying

Pearson—Murphy

Mr. and Mrs. Felton L. (Buddy) Whitfield of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Alicia Carlene Pearson, to Keith Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Murphy of Pearlinton. Miss Pearson is the daughter of the late Carl Wayne Pearson.

The bride-elect, whose mother is the former Gaylene Skipper, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bilbo Skipper of Picayune and Mrs. Rena Pearson of Carriere and the late Marvel Pearson.

Mr. Murphy, whose mother is the former Carol Anthony, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Anthony of Waveland and Mrs. Ruby Murphy and the late Clifton Murphy.

The couple will exchange vows in an early January wedding in the Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis.

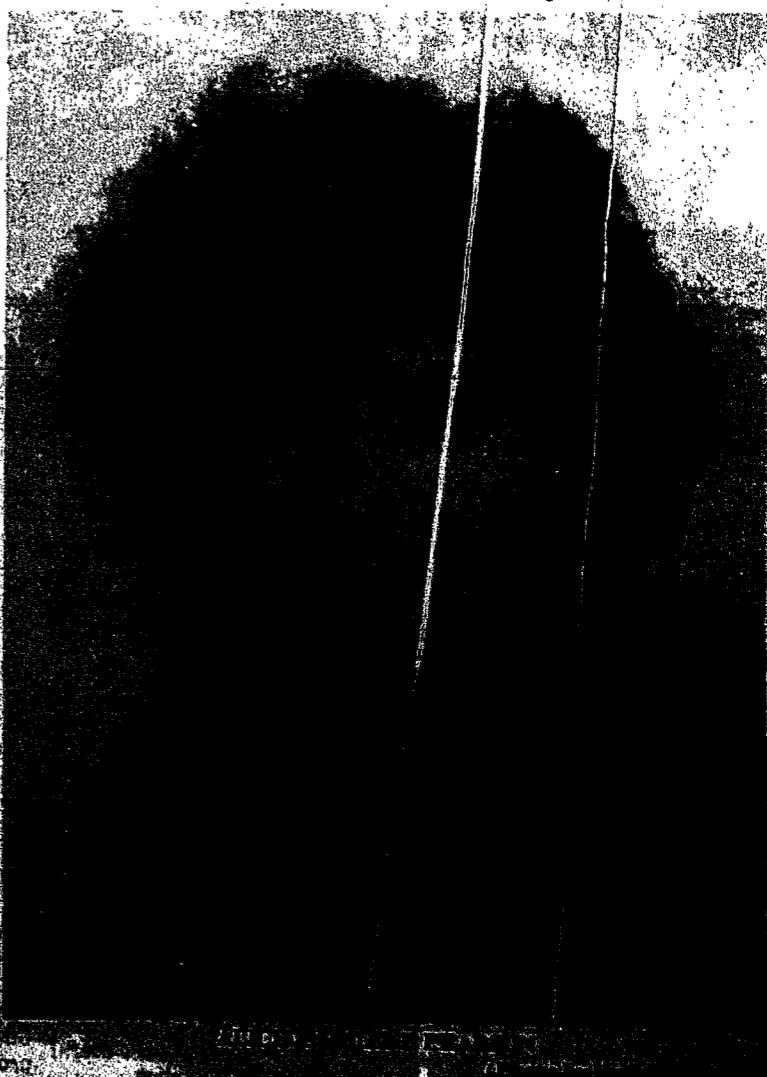

Fucich—Hodgins

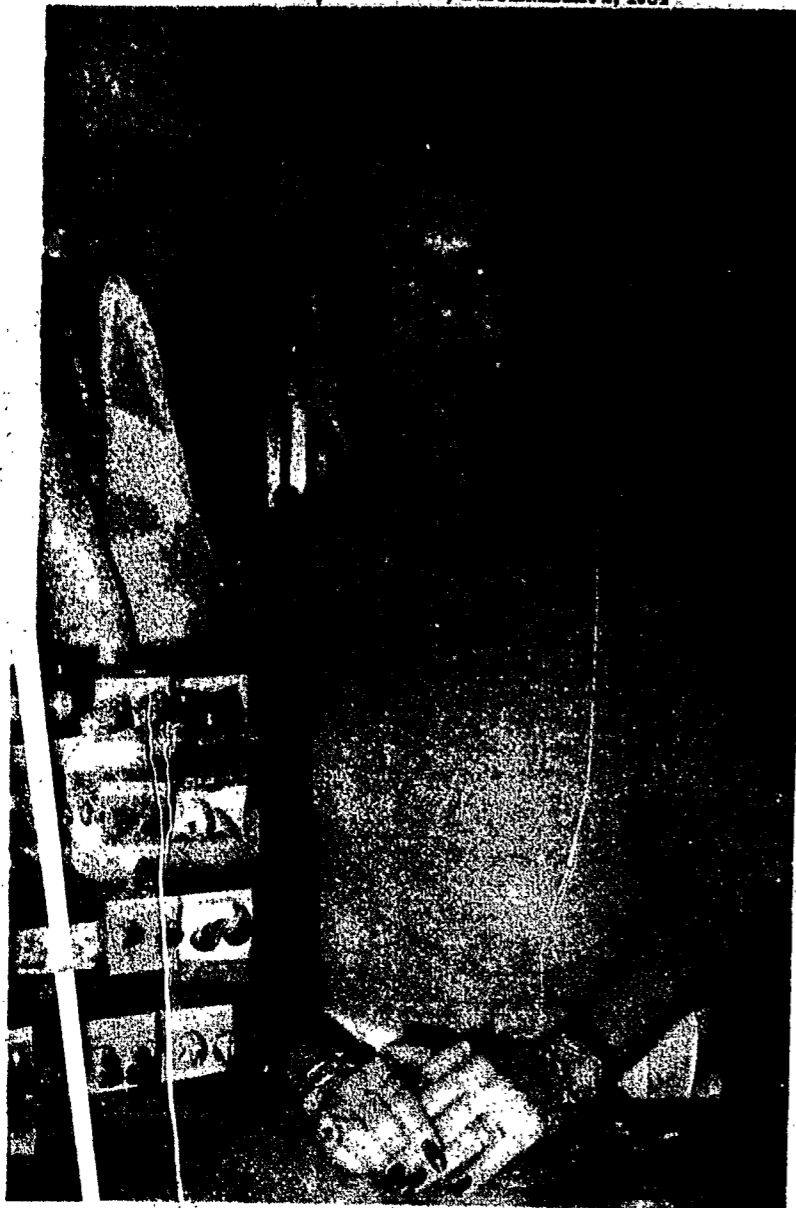

Our Lady of the Gulf Church in Bay St. Louis was the setting for the October 27 marriage of Kathleen M. Hodgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hodgins III, and Clayton J. Fucich, son of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Fucich. The Rev. Henry McInerney officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Rita J. Hodgins, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Drew Fucich, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Bay Senior High School and is employed at Waveland Elementary School.

The groom is a graduate of Bay Senior High School and is employed at Waveland Elementary School. The couple now reside in Bay St. Louis.

NEW SEA CHEST OWNER—Rochelle Buchanan of Diamondhead is now proprietor of The Sea Chest ladies clothing store in Market Town Shopping Center, Bay St. Louis. She is married to L. G. (Buck) Buchanan, a self-employed petroleum consultant, and they have four children, Lindall, 26; Colleen, 24; and twin sons Bruce and Brett, 20. The family traveled for 20 years in many countries prior to locating in Bay St. Louis. Former co-owners Laurie Poindexter and Shirlee Whitlow established the store in 1969, and greeted customers for 15 years in three locations. The two are now enjoying time with family and friends—Mrs. Whitlow is traveling and Mrs. Poindexter is spending colder months in her winter home in the Bahamas. Mrs. Buchanan welcomes all Sea Chest customers to stop in and meet her.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT—Angela Scardino Treutel has recently completed all experience and examination requirements of the Mississippi State Board of Public Accountancy and has received her Certified Public Accountant certificate. Angela is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Scardino of Pass Christian and is a 1981 honors graduate from the University of Mississippi. She is employed as a senior systems analyst with Exxon Company USA and is married to David Treutel Jr.

Chamber elects officers

John Mason, owner of Mason's Exxon in Waveland, was elected president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for 1985 at the November board meeting.

Serving with him will be Kathy Fernandez, Coast Electric Power Association, as vice president; and Dick Thomas, Moore and Powell, as treasurer.

Mason, an alumnus of Father Flanagan's Boy's Town in Nebraska, attended Kansas City Community College and the University of Washington, Seattle.

He served four years in the U.S. Marine Corps, and then worked as a hotel accountant in Sun Valley, Idaho, and as a hotel front office manager in Overland Park, Kan.

He was listed in the American Hotel and Restaurant Association Gold Book and was a former chairman of the Young Republicans in Blaine County, Idaho.

While on the chamber board of directors, Mason has served on the special projects and legislative committees, and was vice president this past year.

He is currently treasurer of the Waveland Civic Association, serves on the board of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, and has served two terms as a member of the Exxon Dealers Advisory Council.

He just completed his term on the Gulf Coast Private Industry Council. Mason is a member of the Hancock County United Way Board of Directors and a member of the vestry of Christ Episcopal Church.

He is married to the former Debra Lucas, and they reside in Bay St. Louis with their two daughters, Sara and Robin.

Newly elected directors to the Chamber board for three-year terms are Charles Benvenutti, CPA; David Compretta, Hancock County Farm Bureau Insurance; and Ellen Kane, Ellen Kane Gifts.

Serving with them will be Ellis Cuevas, The Sea Coast Echo; Jeanne Garcia, Jeanne's Gifts Shop; Patricia Harvill, Riemann Funeral Homes; Joyce Lee, Hancock Bank; John Scafide, Farve, Genin and Scafide; Sherlyn Breland, Peoples Federal Savings & Loan Association; Bob Hubbard, Bob Hubbard Photography; Anthony Lolacano, Anthony's Men's Wear; Mary Perkins, Hancock General Hospital; and David Treutel, Peoples Federal Savings & Loan Association.

RSVP report

By Theresa James
RSVP Director

We would like to thank our many friends for making our bazaar Nov. 14 such a success.

We would also like to congratulate those who entered articles in the Hancock County Fair and won ribbons.

Many of our volunteers helped at the fair and we are grateful for the many hours served.

Military Mention

SGT. FAIRCONNETUE

Army Sgt. Shirley Fairconnetue, daughter of Tommy L. Judd of Tunica, has arrived for duty at Camp Casey, South Korea.

Fairconnetue, an administrative specialist with the 2nd Infantry Division, was previously assigned at Fort Knox, Ky.

Her husband, Army Sgt. Raymond B. Fairconnetue, is the son of Ethel Fairconnetue of Bay St. Louis. She is a 1974 graduate of Rosa Fort High School.

RSVP volunteers are helping the Fire Department Doll and Toy Fund by cleaning and dressing dolls and cleaning stuffed animals.

Josephine Hopkins, Ethel Dorman and Tee Oliver have spent many hours repairing dolls and stuffed animals to be distributed to needy children.

Mrs. Josephine Hopkin's daughter, Ann Peneguy and her Boy Scout troop helped separate toys and brought them to Mrs. Hopkins and other RSVP volunteers to be made like new again before Santa distributes them.

Thank you all for helping make Christmas happier for needy boys and girls.

We have had many calls about the RSVP Christmas Party for Harrison County which was in last week's paper.

The Hancock County RSVP will hold a Christmas Open House at the Senior Citizens Center Tuesday, Dec. 18 from 1 to 3 p.m.

We will serve refreshments in the cafeteria that afternoon.

Mrs. Esther Bussey has graciously agreed to play the piano and maybe a group will sing Christmas carols.

We would like an old fashioned sing-a-long to wish each other the very best.

We hope to see as many of our friends as possible that day. It is a happy season, hope you will join us.

There will be many parties and festivities during the next few weeks.

We will attend as many as we can and wish all of our volunteers and friends the very best holiday goodwill.

We work among the people who give all year, not just at Christmas. They help neighbors, friends, strangers—anyone who needs help can call on volunteers.

This is the true spirit of Christmas and we at RSVP feel privileged to help bring this spirit of Christmas to our community all year.

The Senior Citizens Center will be closed Dec. 24 and 25.

Also, there will be no classes until after Jan. 1.

The RSVP office will be closed Dec. 24, 25, and 26; 31 and Jan. 1. The Forget-Me-Not Craft Shop will be open Christmas Eve and closed Christmas Day and the day after Christmas.

They will re-open on Dec. 27. Please do your Christmas shopping with us.

Wilma Miller, manager, and Joyce Hill are there to help make your Christmas shopping easier.

Also, all of our volunteers who help them will be glad to help you with your Christmas shopping.

We wish all of you a Merry Christmas and a very happy and prosperous New Year.

Reunion concert to air Nov. 30

Pete Barbutti, Kay Starr, Joe Williams, Clark Terry, and the Dukes of Dixieland join band leader Woody Herman and his Thundering Herd for a reunion concert in 'Woody Herman's Big Band Reunion,' premiering Friday, Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. on WYES-TV/12.

The concert was taped by WYES before a live audience at Houston's Miller Outdoor Amphitheatre in October. The two-hour special will repeat on WYES on Sunday, Dec. 2 at 3 p.m.

Woody Herman and musician-comedian Pete Barbutti share the master of ceremonies duties for the concert special. The music is something old and something new, performed with the touches top artists add to keep their music fresh.

Herman leads the show with a rendition of 'Things Ain't What They Used to Be'; later, he performs 'Satin Doll' and 'Don't Get Around Much Anymore' among other numbers.

New Orleans' own Dukes of Dixieland offer favorites like 'Dippermouth Blues' and 'Muskrat Ramble' and songstress Kay Starr performs 'Hard-hearted Hannah,' 'Rock 'N Roll Waltz' and 'Wheel of Fortune.'

IRS to provide training

The Internal Revenue Service has scheduled a series of training sessions for persons who want to volunteer to assist the lower income, handicapped and elderly with the preparation of their tax returns. This service is free and the training is designed to cover the preparation of Forms 1040EZ and 1040A. The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) training on the Gulf Coast is scheduled Dec. 10-12 at the Harrison County Courthouse, 1801 23th Ave., Gulfport, in the Civil Defense Room.

Combined choirs to present Handel's Messiah at Keesler

Handel's Messiah will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 7 and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9 at Keesler Air Force Base's Chapel One.

"This is the single most important musical performance of the year on the Coast," said Dr. James C. Downey, who will direct the choir he expects will number about 110 voices.

"And once together, this is the finest choral organization in the state."

This Christmas season marks the 31st year that members of the base's chapel choir, members of Gulf Coast church choirs, and friends of the base have blended their voices at Keesler in Georg Friedrich Handel's most popular oratorio.

According to Downey, there are a number of choir mainstays including retired Air Force Lt. Col. Harry Evers of Biloxi who sang at the first performance of the Keesler-Coast tradition. Evers, who was a soloist with the original Keesler Male Chorus, has joined the choir for at least eight seasons during assignments to Keesler and following retirement.

The orchestra, Downey said, is comprised of music students from the University of Southern Mississippi, and professional musicians from the Gulf Coast and New Orleans.

The principle musician, harpsichordist Martha Dugger, is a member of the William Carey College faculty.

Downey, who is dean of William Carey on the Coast, and professor of music literature there since 1986, is a church musician who has directed the Messiah on many occasions. This marks his second year as director of the Keesler performance.

THE MORMONS

Waveland Branch
Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints

By Cathy Ginn

Communications Director
The 98th United Congress designated Nov. 18 through 24 as National Family Week.

In keeping with that proclamation, local members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints renewed their efforts to support and encourage family unity.

Hopefully it won't take an act of Congress to make us more aware of our family responsibilities.

As Americans, we pride ourselves in having happy and loving families. Especially at this "thanksgiving" time of year, we ponder our blessings and among those are our family and loved ones.

May we reflect for a moment to what family unity meant to the pilgrims and settlers of our country. For many of these people, family unity was both a necessity and a natural result of their way of life.

Their families lived and worked together. They relied heavily on each other for companionship, safety, and survival.

But in our fast-paced world, many of us change jobs and homes several times a lifetime. As a result we have learned to depend less on family. In many of our homes, where television and outside activities compete for our attention, family members may actually feel isolated from one another.

Today, like families in the past, families have a need for strong unity. Some ideas for greater unity could include some of the following:

→ Arrange to be together at mealtimes more often.

→ Plan an evening of doing something together that everyone will enjoy, such as planting a garden, playing a game, having a picnic or family outing, or visiting grandparents.

Ephesians 6:1 helps us understand why parents and children should counsel together in making family decisions. If children understand why a rule is made, then it is easier for them to accept that rule. When the family, under the direction of the parents, has made a rule or decision, all are responsible to obey that rule and abide by that decision.

Some families find it beneficial to hold "Family Councils" regularly. They may discuss such subjects as family scheduling, family responsibilities, a family garden, or the family vacation. Another idea that's helped some families to solve problems or fill needs in the home is to discuss the situation openly.

Plan together how you can work on it as a family. Set a time limit in which you will accomplish the need or solve the problem. For example, you might decide, "We will not have arguments in our home for one week. We can discuss quietly any conflict that may arise, and settle it peacefully and in friendship."

Each family member is personally responsible to help make the family happy and strong. Children should contribute, also. One game children might enjoy along with adults is "A Game About Love," which goes like this. Without revealing the name of the person, have family members tell of an incident in which another family member demonstrated love. Each person could begin by saying "I'm thinking about someone that did ... to show his love." Have the other family members guess who the loving family member is. Make sure that everyone has a turn and that each member is used as an example of love so that no one feels left out. Here's another game children might like. Write a note to each member of your family, telling each one why he is special to you and that you love him. Put each note where the person can easily find it.

Often, it seems easier to be kind to people we hardly know than to one of our own family members, the people we love the most. Sometimes we can be thoughtless and even cruel to our family by our words and our actions.

The Savior taught us to love one another as he loves us. He loves us even when we are not doing everything we should. We should learn to love our own family members in this same way.

Spencer W. Kimball, President of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, has stated, "Family life is the best method for achieving happiness in this world, and it is a clear pattern of what is to be in the next world."

Surgeon general predicts smoke-free generation

U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, who was appointed to office in 1981, has identified two goals to be achieved by the end of the century: creation of a smokefree generation by the year 2000; creation of a smokefree society.

Dr. Koop describes a "smokefree generation" as an entire senior high school class of non-smokers.

"I think the goal can be achieved within 16 years. Kids today are sophisticated," Koop continues. "They know about and resent cigarette advertising. Attitudes are changing and shaping up for a smokefree society. Smoking is becoming socially unacceptable."

Surveys show that 64 percent of smokers and 63 percent of non-smokers feel there should be separate work areas. Further surveys show that 24 percent of non-smokers and 11 percent of smokers feel that smoking in work areas should be limited or prohibited.

"A smokefree society has a lot to do with companionship," says Dr. Koop. "As an example, Koop continues, 'if you're a smoker and you have lunch with a non-smoker, you don't smoke. That's companionship.'"

Smokers and non-smokers are familiar with the first warning issued by the U.S. Surgeon General:

"The Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health." An estimated 84 percent of non-smokers feel that smoking is hazardous to their health and 64 percent of smokers agree.

The Surgeon General has proposed that four new warnings appear alternately on cigarette packs and in cigarette advertising. The new warnings are: "cigarette smoking contains carbon monoxide," "cigarette smoking causes lung cancer, heart disease and emphysema;" "smoking by pregnant women may result in fetal injury and premature birth;" and "quitting smoking now greatly reduces serious health risks."

"These new messages mention things that we're concerned about," says Dr. Koop. "They will get across information that the old label couldn't."

Medical Assistants to install officers

Coast Counties Chapter of Medical Assistants held its monthly meeting Nov. 27 at Western Sizzlin Steakhouse in Gulfport.

Elected to serve as officers for 1985 are Beverly Wallace, president; Mary Ellen Ladner, vice-president; Helen Donohoo, treasurer; Eileen Hanson, secretary; and Thelma VanCloonster and Quin Bloom, executive board.

Ms. Helen Donohoo, charter member of Coast Counties Chapter and a life member of the Mississippi State Society, was honored by her chapter by also being made a life member of Coast Counties Chapter.

All medical office personnel, their guests, physician employers and wives are invited to attend the annual installation of officers and Christmas party at the Broadwater Beach on Thursday, Dec. 13 at 7 p.m. Reservations and further information may be obtained by calling Ms. Wallace at 883-7835 days and 896-8479 evenings.

ENTRY BLANK

Official Rules: 1. Hand print the required information on the Official Entry Form, or hand print your name, address and zip code and the words REVCO HOLIDAY HIGHWAY SWEEPSTAKES on a plain 3" x 5" piece of paper and mail to: REVCO HOLIDAY HIGHWAY SWEEPSTAKES, C.S. Box 6308, Farmingdale, NY 11735-6308. Enter as often as you wish, but mail each entry separately. All entries must be received no later than December 28, 1984. Sponsor is not responsible for late, lost, illegible, delayed or misdirected mail. 2. Winner will be selected in random drawings held on or about January 3, 1985, from among all eligible entries received. Judging will be conducted by MARLBORO MARKETING, INC., an independent judging organization. By entering the Sweepstakes, entrants agree to and accept these rules and the decisions of the judges in all matters relating to the Sweepstakes. Odds of winning will be determined by the total number of eligible entries received. 3. Grand Prize of (1) 1985 Ford Tempo title, dealer preparation, transportation and taxes, if any, to take possession of car. Winner will be notified by mail and will be required to sign an affidavit of eligibility and release which must be returned within 21 days of receipt or an alternate winner will be selected. Prize is not transferable. No substitution for prize except by sponsor due to prize unavailability. All taxes are the sole responsibility of the winner. 4. Sweepstakes open to all residents of the U.S., 18 years or older, except employees and their families of Revco U.S., Inc. and Revlon, Inc., its affiliates, subsidiaries, advertising agencies, and MARLBORO MARKETING, INC. who are not eligible. This offer is void wherever prohibited by law. 5. For the name of the Grand Prize Winner, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope after January 3, 1985 to: REVCO HOLIDAY HIGHWAY WINNER, C.S. Box 6309, Farmingdale, NY 11735-6309. All requests for Winner's Lists must be received by March 1, 1985.

No Purchase Required. Complete the information below to enter Revco's Holiday Highway Sweepstakes.
